Skelton Brumwell staff have a range of experience in cultural heritage planning in both the public sector and private sector.

Skelton Brumwell staff have provided heritage consulting services for private property owners, developers, and municipalities relating to residential, commercial, and resource development applications. We also have expertise in municipal policy development and review regarding cultural heritage and archaeology.

Heritage Conservation Districts under the Ontario Heritage Act.

We can additionally provide services to municipalities in the development and review of cultural heritage and archaeology policies in municipal official plans, and development of incentives and strategies for heritage conservation.
